A professional experience.

UBC Sauder is recognized as one of the top business schools in the world for business research and innovation. Meet a few of our Continuing Business Studies graduates who’ve benefited from our programs.

"After years of picking up skills while working in a startup environment, I decided to pursue formal education offered through UBC Continuing Business Studies to help fill in the gaps and strengthen my practical competencies in project management."

Rushan Shokar, UBC Certificate in Project Management
League Operations Manager – FIFA, Competitive Gaming
Electronic Arts (EA)

"The most helpful aspect of the program is that each module is taught by a different project management professional with a proven track record of completing big projects on time. Their experience reinforced the course material, as each instructor could provide real-life case studies. I also appreciated the key business management ideas that were integrated into the curriculum. In essence, the course was like a mini-MBA!"

Zachary Musa, UBC Certificate in Project Management
Project Manager
STEMCELL Technologies

"UBC Continuing Business Studies courses gave me so much more confidence! The terminology, hands on experience, and the different instructors who shared their expertise and ‘tricks of the trade’ helped so much. As a result, I began looking at things with an open-minded and outside-the-box perspective. You can be a project manager anywhere, but using the right tools and knowledge helps. And that is what this course did."

Janina Mooney, UBC Certificate in Project Management
Project Manager
Henningeri Partnerships Architects

"Since completing the course, I’ve established myself as a capable Business Analyst. This has given me freedom to try ‘outside the box’ solutions on my projects. As the old saying goes, you need to learn the rules well, so you can break them efficiently."
